[Phone rings.]

M: _____

3번 대화를 듣고, 남자의 마지막 말에 대한 여자의 응답으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

M: Amy, I heard you don't work in the flower shop anymore.

W: That's right. Now I work as a kindergarten teacher. I've dreamed of it since childhood.

W: _____

4번 다음을 듣고, 남자가 하는 말의 주제로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

M: Hello, students. Today we're talking about dental health of humans in ancient times. Do you know why ancient people also suffered from cavities? One reason is related to their diet. Cavemen consumed root vegetables and nuts, which were transformed into sugars during digestion. As a result, while humans in ancient times didn't have any chocolate or candy, their teeth were still exposed to sugars. The second reason, obviously, is they didn't have toothbrushes and toothpaste. Since cavemen could not brush their teeth clean, it was unavoidable for them to have severe cavities. Isn't it interesting? Now we're going to figure out how they treated their cavities.

5번 다음을 듣고, 여자가 하는 말의 목적으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

W: Good morning. Welcome to Children's Grand Park. We're proud of our cheerful and safe environment for children. Children's safety and well-being is always our primary concern. Nowadays, there are more reports of children going missing at youth facilities. That can happen in an instant while the parents are distracted for just a moment. Therefore, we request careful attention from parents and caretakers. Young children should never be left unattended in any areas, especially the playing sections and the parking lot. We promise to continue to do our best to protect children from any unfortunate incidents. Thank you for your cooperation.

M: I totally understand how you feel now. It's important to manage your stress well.

W: Hmm... how did you deal with it?

M: Well, I used to relieve my stress by dancing to loud music.

W: Did it work? I think I'll have to try that, too.

M: Well, the best way to relieve stress varies from person to person. Exercise might be good for someone, while others like listening to music.

W: I see your point. I guess playing badminton would be right for me.

M: There you go! I hope that helps you out.

W: I'm worried about that, too. Why don't we suggest some new activities to him?

M: Good idea. What about sports like swimming?

W: Well, I think team sports would be better for him.

M: Why? He used to like to swim when he was younger.

W: Yeah, but he needs to spend more time with friends. It'll help him develop social skills.

M: I see your point.

W: I believe he'll learn how to get along better when he's on a team.

M: I think we can offer you a better royalty payment. Is there room for reconsideration?

W: I know, but it's better to send the report using my account than not doing anything.

M: That makes sense. Then please do it for me.

M: Hi, I'm Justin Timber, president of the student council. I guess you all know that this November 24th is Together Day. It's a great day for our school to celebrate our rich cultural diversity. As you know, our school is very famous for having students from various cultural backgrounds. Recognizing this, our student council founded Together Day in 2013. The central message for the day is 'Diversity is good,' emphasizing diverse cultures. For the day, booths will be opened for numerous activities like playing games, selling and buying things, and introducing your cultures. Starting this year, you have the option of wearing your own traditional clothes for the day. If you don't want to, that is also fine. We look forward to seeing you there.

【19-20】 다음을 듣고, 물음에 답하십시오.

M: Hello, listeners. My name is Dr. Green from Perkins University. Today I'll talk about water and your body. How much water do you think the human body needs per day? One liter? Two liters? For healthy living in a temperate climate, 1.5 liters a day is recommended. The human body is composed of about 60 percent water, and needs enough water to function properly. Here are many ways drinking enough water is beneficial to your body. First, water is essential for cells because it composes a part of each cell. Second, water helps with the regulation of body temperature. Water enables the body to adapt to surrounding temperatures through sweat and urination. Third, water helps facilitate digestion by assisting the passage of food through the intestines. Finally, water helps with the transportation of nutrients to various parts of your body. In conclusion, water plays a key role in maintaining good physical health. Please make sure that you drink enough water every day and stay healthy.
